One of concentrate the employment of labor Salt Water Bathing, Fishing and Crabbing and capital on land upon a smaller acreage. Parallel with this has come the wiser policy of providing for that variety of crops which makes farming something nearer to a self-sufficing in-dustry. A third change is the gradual of losses and all matters connected with something nearer to a self-sufficing inadjustment of farm produce to the needs of the towns and cities, with special regard to the current demands of the mill population for food supplies. This has given a fresh impulse to dairy ing, the production of livestock for meat supplies and the growth of orchard (products conveniently market able from the point of production.

The changes have called for banks for insurance companies, for building organizations and for various other forms of the utilization of surplus resources, which come with departure from a purely agricultural to a rapidly growing industrial and commercial or ganization of the community. With these have come the evolution of a variety of talent among the people, evident in the capacity with which these enterprises and institutions have in the main been conducted. The field of opportunity for business talent in the south has become one of the most inviting among the many afforded by a country of manifold opportunities-Wall Street Journal.
